The public statement to UMC's shareholders

1. Date of occurrence of the event: 2005/12/28

2. Cause of occurrence:

Due to the fact that UMC's announcement of the restatement of UMC's financial statements for the USA resulted in many misunderstandings, as well as inappropriate treatment by the TSE and FSC, we would like to take this opportunity to give a thorough clarification of the situation.

Since the listing of UMC's ADR shares on the New York Stock Exchange (NYSE), UMC has been obligated to reconcile its annual financial statements from Taiwan with US generally accepted accounting principles (GAAP) for submission to the NYSE. Due to the fact that the accepted accounting principles of Taiwan and the USA are different, it is natural for significant disparities to exist between some of the numbers. These disparities and their causes must be explained to US investors although they have no bearing on Taiwan equity investors.

Since the establishment of the Sarbanes-Oxley Act in the USA in 2002, the standards for financial reporting have become very strict, and the trend is for companies to become extremely conservative in their reporting practices. In order to remain as conservative as possible, many listed companies in the USA will take advantage of commentaries provided by the SEC to improve their reporting methods. During the first 3 quarters of this year, 541 companies listed in the USA restated their financial statements and establishing more conservative reporting practices.

After receiving such comments from the SEC in the USA, and after close deliberation with our accountants, we decided to re-examine our financial statements in accordance with more conservative reporting practices, resulting in new financial figures. On December 14, we forwarded this restated information to the SEC.

At the same time that we reported this information to the SEC, we released a list of the figures that were restated (detailing the effect caused by the revaluation of goodwill, derivative products, and the cost of share bonuses) to the SEC website. We also disclosed this public information to the media in the form of a press release on Business Wire for global distribution through all major media channels. In addition, our corporate website is linked to the USA SEC website, making it possible for anyone to attain this information through UMC's own web page.

While distributing our announcement globally, we did not consider making an independent announcement in Taiwan for many reasons. Firstly, The restatement of financials statements had no effect on the financial statements in Taiwan. Secondly, by issuing our announcement through Business Wire, the global leader in news distribution, we were effectively covering all of the local media outlets. Furthermore, the Taiwan TSE website is linked to the USA SEC website, as is UMC's own website, making this information readily available to Taiwan investors. Thirdly, as stated previously, 541 companies listed in the USA have restated their financial results over the first 3 quarters of the year, and to our knowledge none of them have seen their stock valuations affected significantly. Therefore, we did not consider our announcement to be a major event that required reporting under Taiwan's regulations.

Unfortunately, on December 14th, the company stock price did drop sharply due to inaccurate market rumors. The Taiwan TSE also asked us to release a Chinese translation of the announcement that we had previously released globally. We responded immediately, even though the news was already public information.

After closing sharply down on December 14th, the stock price has since recovered to levels above the day we announced the restatement of our financial results in the USA, demonstrating the confidence investors have in the company. This has been a detailed, accurate account of the events that led to our announcement of the restatement of the financial figures released to the U.S. SEC.

If UMC's actions were in anyway inappropriate, the company remains open to constructive criticism and commentary. Of course, we hope that our critics and the relevant governing authorities of the stock exchange will approach the matter professionally from a global perspective.

However, we strongly question the appropriateness of insulting local media reports that used provocative language to suggest that UMC had made a huge mistake in its financial reporting. Also, we think it is reasonable to question the appropriateness of any disciplinary measures from the FSC with regard to timely reporting of major company news, considering that the FSC has not provided any professional and consistent definition for these terms. In this particular case, we were most surprised by the comments of the FSC spokesperson, who was heard inciting investors to independently take legal action against a listed company under its regulation. This surely is an unprecedented occurrence in the annals of stock exchange regulatory history. Moreover, since the stock price has strongly rebounded since the 14th of December, we are not sure for what crime the FSC spokesperson would like UMC investors to take legal action.

UMC has always been managed under an extremely strict ethical code. For example, we have never allowed close relatives of employees to enter the company, and a declaration must be made before they can be involved in any busy transactions with the company. UMC has also demanded that its management team behaves in private in a manner that reflects well on the company as a whole. Since our team of professional managers has taken control of the board of directors, we have reduced the compensation for directors and supervisors from 5% of profits to only 0.1%, the lowest among listed companies in Taiwan. Considering all of these positive factors, we believe that UMC should be considered a model of today's transparent, upstanding organization.
