CORPORATE ACTIONS

PURPOSE AND EFFECT OF CHANGING THE COMPANY'S NAME
AND OF AUTHORIZING A 1-FOR-26 REVERSE STOCK SPLIT

The Company's Board of Directors proposed to ask its stockholders to approve an amendment to the Company's Certificate of Incorporation and the filing of said amendment with the Secretary of State of the State of Delaware to change the Company name from Sector 10, Inc. to First Diversified Equities, Inc. and to approve a reverse split of the par value $0.001 common stock on a 26:1 ratio (26 old shares for one new share).

Amendments to the Articles of Incorporation

Amendment to the Articles of Incorporation to Change the Company Name

The Certificate of Amendment provides that Article I, as it relates to the Company's name, will be revised as follows:

The name of the corporation is First Diversified Equities, Inc.

Amendment to the Articles of Incorporation to Authorize the 1-for-26 Reverse Stock Split of the Company's Outstanding Shares of Common Stock

The Certificate of Amendment provides that Article V, as it relates to the Reverse Stock Split, will be revised as follows:

On the effective date of this Certificate of Amendment, the Corporation shall effect a reverse split in its issued and outstanding shares of common stock so that the shares currently issued and outstanding shall be reverse split, or consolidated, on a 1-for-26 basis, and stockholders shall receive one share of the Corporation's post-split Common Stock, $0.001 par value, for each twenty-six shares of common stock, $0.001 par value, held by them prior to the reverse split. No scrip or fractional shares will be issued in connection with the reverse split and any fractional interest will be rounded up to the nearest whole share. The reverse split will not result in any modification of the rights of stockholders, and will have no effect on the stockholders' equity in the Corporation except for a transfer from stated capital to additional paid-in capital. All shares returned to the Corporation as a result of the reverse split will be canceled and returned to the status of authorized and unissued shares. Except as specifically provided herein, the Corporation's Articles of Incorporation shall remain unmodified and shall continue in full force and effect.

Purpose of Amendments

The Company's Board of Directors believes it advisable to amend the Company's Certificate of Incorporation to approve an amendment to the Company's Certificate of Incorporation and the filing of said amendment with the Secretary of State of the State of Delaware to change the Company name from Sector 10, Inc. to First Diversified Equities, Inc. and to approve a reverse split of the par value $0.001 common stock. As of the date hereof, there are 159,869,115 shares of common stock issued and outstanding.

By changing the Company name to First Diversified Equities, Inc., the Company hopes to clearly indicate to current and future shareholders that it is moving in a new direction. The name reflects the Company's new identity and scope, conveying a multi-faceted focus in diverse business areas.

The Board of Directors has approved an amendment to the Articles of Incorporation that would affect a reverse stock split of the outstanding common stock on the basis of one share for every twenty-six shares currently issued and outstanding. Each twenty-six shares of common stock outstanding when the Certificate of Amendment is filed with the Delaware Secretary of State (the "Effective Date") will be converted automatically into a single share of common stock. There will not be a change in the par value of the common stock of the Company. To avoid the existence of fractional shares of common stock, if a stockholder would otherwise be entitled to receive a fractional share, such stockholder will be entitled to receive an additional whole share. The reverse stock split will occur automatically on the Effective Date without any action on the part of stockholders and without regard to the date certificates representing shares of common stock are physically surrendered for new certificates.

Stockholders will hold the same percentage interest in the Company as they held prior to the reverse stock split, but their interest will be represented by one-twenty-sixth as many shares. For instance, if a stockholder presently owns 100 shares, after the reverse stock split they will own 4 shares (100 divided by 26 equals 3.85 shares, which will be equal to 4 whole shares, to avoid the existence of fractional shares).

Generally, a reduction in the number of outstanding shares of common stock caused by the reverse stock split is anticipated initially to increase the per share market price of the common stock, however, because some investors may view the reverse stock split negatively, there can be no assurance that the market price of the common stock will reflect proportionately the reverse stock split, that any particular price may be achieved, or that any price gain will be sustained in the future.

An increase in per share price of the Company's common stock, which the Company expects as a consequence of the reverse stock split, may enhance the acceptability of the common stock to the financial community and the investing public and potentially broaden the investor pool from which the Company might be able to obtain additional financing. Because of the trading volatility often associated with low-priced stocks, as a matter of policy, many institutional investors are prohibited from purchasing such stocks. For the same reason, brokers often discourage their customers from purchasing such stocks. To the extent that the per share price of the common stock increases as a result of the reverse stock split, some of these concerns may be ameliorated.

Additionally, because broker's commissions on low-priced stocks generally represent a higher percentage of the stock price than commissions on higher-priced stocks, the current per share price of the Company's common stock can result in individual stockholders paying transaction costs representing a higher percentage of their total share value than would be the case if the share price were higher. On the other hand, if the reverse stock split is implemented, the number of holders of fewer than 100 shares of common stock ("odd-lots") may be increased. Typically, brokerage fees charged on the transfer of odd lots are proportionately higher than those charged on the transfer of 100 or more shares of common stock ("round-lots").

Potential Disadvantages to the Reverse Stock Split

Reduced Market Capitalization. Theoretically, the overall value of the Company will not change as a result of the reverse stock split so that reducing the number of shares outstanding by a factor of twenty-six would increase the per share price by a value of twenty-six. However, a reverse stock split is often viewed negatively by the market and, consequently, can lead to a decrease in the overall market capitalization of the Company. As a result, there is no mathematical certainty as to the increase in the price per share that might be expected as result of the reverse stock split, and there can be no assurance that the per share price will increase proportionately to the reverse stock split. If the per share price increases by a factor less than the one-for-twenty-six reverse stock split, then the overall market capitalization of the Company will be reduced.

Increased Volatility. The reverse stock split will reduce our outstanding common stock to approximately 6,148,812 shares of common stock. Of this amount, approximately 1,808,462 shares will be held by officers, directors, and stockholders owning in excess of 10% of the outstanding common stock. This will result in approximately 4,340,350 shares being held in the public float. This reduced number of shares could result in decreased liquidity in the trading market and potential mismatches between supply and demand in the market for the common stock at any given time, which could result in changes in the trading price unrelated to the activities or prospects of the Company.

Increased Transaction Costs. As a result of the reverse stock split, the number of shares held by each individual stockholder will be reduced to one twenty-sixth of the number previously held. This will increase the number of stockholders who hold less than a "round lot," or 100 shares. Typically, the transaction costs to stockholders selling "odd lots" are higher on a per share basis. Consequently, the reverse stock split could increase the transaction costs to existing stockholders in the event they wish to sell all or a portion of their position.

Procedure for Exchange of Stock Certificates

The Company anticipates that the reverse stock split will become effective on April 14, 2011 which is approximately 21 calendar days after this Information Statement is first mailed to our stockholders, or as soon thereafter as is practicable, which we will refer to as the Effective Date. Beginning on the Effective Date, each certificate representing pre-reverse split shares will be deemed for all corporate purposes to evidence ownership of post-reverse split shares. Holders of pre-reverse split shares are asked to surrender certificates representing pre-reverse split shares to our transfer agent OTC Stock Transfer in exchange for certificates representing post-reverse split shares in accordance with the procedures set forth in a letter of transmittal to be provided to each stockholder following the Effective Date. No new certificates will be issued to a stockholder until that stockholder has surrendered the stockholder's outstanding certificate(s) together with the properly completed and executed letter of transmittal.

You should not send your old stock certificates now. You should send them only after you receive the letter of transmittal from our transfer agent.

Federal Income Tax Considerations

Neither the Company nor its stockholders should recognize any gain or loss for federal income tax purposes as a result of the reverse stock split. This conclusion is based on the provisions of the Internal Revenue Code of 1986 (the “Code”), existing and proposed regulations thereunder, legislative history, judicial decisions, and current administrative rulings and practices, all in effect on the date hereof. Any of these authorities could be repealed, overruled, or modified at any time. Any such change could be retroactive and, accordingly, could cause the tax consequences to vary substantially from the consequences described herein. No ruling from the Internal Revenue Service (the “IRS”) with respect to the matters discussed herein has been requested, and there is no assurance that the IRS would agree with the conclusions set forth in this discussion. Accordingly, you should consult with your tax advisor.

This discussion may not address certain federal income tax consequences that may be relevant to particular stockholders in light of their personal circumstances (such as persons subject to the alternative minimum tax) or to certain types of stockholders (such as dealers in securities, insurance companies, foreign individuals and entities, financial institutions, and tax-exempt entities) who may be subject to special treatment under the federal income tax laws. This discussion also does not address any tax consequences under state, local, or foreign laws.

You are urged to consult your tax adviser as to the particular tax consequences to you of the reverse stock split, including the applicability of any state, local, or foreign tax laws, changes in applicable tax laws, and any pending or proposed legislation.
