Semi-Annual Report to Stockholders

June 30, 2003

PORTFOLIO MANAGER COMMENTARY

Dear Fellow Stockholders:

Patience was finally rewarded during the first half of our fiscal year as a dismal winter slump gave way to an extended springtime rally. Although war fears, decaying business fundamentals and economic uncertainties initially took their toll, it appears to us that the market later shrugged them off in anticipation of better times ahead. What fueled this optimism, in our opinion, was a positive outcome in Iraq coupled with surprisingly strong first-quarter earnings and nascent signs of economic stability. With hopes raised that business conditions might soon improve, investor confidence surged.

Against this backdrop, the Blue Chip Value Fund realized an 8.11% gain in net asset value (NAV) for the six-month period ended June 30, 2003, compared to an 11.76% advance for its benchmark, the S&P 500 Index. The Fund's market price entered the year trading at a discount to NAV of more than 5%, and ended the period trading at a premium of nearly 13%. While our relative NAV performance was disappointing, we are optimistic about the prospects of our relative returns going forward. Let us explain.

In the early stages of a market recovery, it appears to us that some participants are tempted to "bet" on beaten-down or lower-quality companies whose share prices reflect significant risks, such as excessive debt or weakening business fundamentals. Another group of investors may choose to "capture the rally" by "betting" on high volatility or high-beta stocks. Recent studies support this notion, as the market assumed heightened risk levels during the first half of 2003, with the lowest-quality companies seemingly outpacing their higher-quality counterparts. One report in particular, authored by Merrill Lynch Chief U.S. Strategist Richard Bernstein, calculated that speculative companies rose 35.5% while stable ones gained only 8.9%. Furthermore, he noted that valuation spreads between the highest beta stocks and the lowest beta stocks widened considerably, approaching the peak levels of late 1999 (Source: U.S. Strategy, Merrill Lynch, July 2003). Despite these higher risk premiums, the Fund's absolute performance, a product of our disciplined investment process, held its own during the period. This process evaluates the cash generation abilities of prospective holdings, the market's valuation of those free cash flows, and the risks inherent in a company's business outlook and balance sheet.

Given these strict criteria, the Fund generally attempts to screen out lower-quality and more highly speculative companies. In our view, chasing this theme would neither be prudent nor desired by our stockholders.

With that in mind, our higher-quality technology holdings failed to keep pace with the benchmark during the period. Nevertheless, we continue to be vigilant with respect to valuation and believe our investments have intrinsic value that is greater than the current market value. Within the financial sector, our position in home financing giant Freddie Mac came under severe pressure as the company faced allegations of accounting irregularities and management turmoil. Although we underestimated the magnitude of its forthcoming earnings restatement, we still believe that the value of the franchise is greater than where the stock currently trades. Elsewhere, our holdings in aerospace and defense contractor General Dynamics Corp. struggled when its business jet unit experienced revenue and profit difficulties. Likewise, industrial equipment supplier Parker Hannifin Corp. fell short of expectations as the prolonged global economic slowdown contributed to softness across all of its markets.

Performance in our healthcare-related holdings proved to be a source of strength. Generic and specialty pharmaceutical names such as Watson Pharmaceuticals Inc. and Mylan Laboratories Inc. added nicely to the Fund's returns, while exposure to large-cap drug giants Wyeth, Bristol-Myers Squibb Co. and Pharmacia Corp. as well as managed health-care leader Aetna Inc. also contributed to significant outperformance relative to our benchmark. We remained underrepresented in consumer staples believing that lofty valuations would cause the sector to trail the market--a decision that added value. At the same time, we capitalized on a modest overweight in the energy sector as integrated energy firm ConocoPhillips realized significant cost savings and operational efficiencies from its August 2002 merger. Strong stock picking in select exploration and production companies emphasizing North American natural gas also worked in our favor.

Looking ahead, we remain optimistic that an economic recovery is underway, and that existing monetary and fiscal stimulus will serve to support that recovery. Although we are conscious of the need to own stocks that will benefit from a rebounding economy, we plan to continue to invest in a portfolio of companies we believe are selling at a discount to their estimated cash flows, even assuming the economic recovery is subdued. Despite periodic near-term pressures from the investing "crowd", we remain driven by the belief that investing is a long-term endeavor because we believe fundamentals prevail in the end.

Sincerely,

/s/ Mark M. Adelmann

Past performance is no guarantee of future results. Share prices will fluctuate, so that shares may be worth more or less than its original cost when sold. Total investment return is calculated assuming a purchase of common stock on the opening of the first day and a sale on the closing of the last day of each period reported. Dividends and distributions, if any, are assumed for purposes of this calculation to be reinvested at prices obtained under the Fund's dividend reinvestment plan. Rights offerings, if any, are assumed for purposes of this calculation to be fully subscribed under the terms of the rights offering. Generally, total investment return based on net asset value will be higher than total investment return based on market value in periods where there is an increase in the discount or a decrease in the premium of the market value to the net asset value from the beginning to the end of such periods. Conversely, total investment return based on the net asset value will be lower than total investment return based on market value in periods where there is a decrease in the discount or an increase in the premium of the market value to the net asset value from the beginning to the end of such periods.

BLUE CHIP VALUE FUND, INC.

NOTES TO FINANCIAL STATEMENTS
June 30, 2003 (Unaudited)

1. ORGANIZATION AND SIGNIFICANT ACCOUNTING POLICIES

Blue Chip Value Fund, Inc. (the "Fund") is registered under the Investment Company Act of 1940, as amended, as a diversified, closed-end management investment company.

The following is a summary of significant accounting policies followed by the Fund in the preparation of its financial statements.

Security Valuation - All securities of the Fund are valued as of the close of regular trading on the New York Stock Exchange ("NYSE"), currently 4:00 p.m. (Eastern Time), on each day that the NYSE is open. Listed securities are generally valued at the last sales price as of the close of regular trading on the NYSE. Securities traded on the National Association of Securities Dealers Automated Quotation ("NASDAQ") are generally valued at the NASDAQ Official Closing Price ("NOCP"). In the absence of sales and NOCP, such securities are valued at the mean of the bid and asked prices.

Securities having a remaining maturity of 60 days or less are valued at amortized cost which approximates market value.

When market quotations are not readily available or when events occur that make established valuation methods unreliable, securities of the Fund may be valued at fair value determined in good faith by or under the direction of the Board of Directors.

Investment Transactions - Investment transactions are accounted for on the date the investments are purchased or sold (trade date). Realized gains and losses from investment transactions and unrealized appreciation and depreciation of investments are determined on the first-in, first-out basis for both financial statement and federal income tax purposes. Dividend income is recorded on the ex-dividend date. Interest income, which includes interest earned on money market funds, is accrued and recorded daily.

Federal Income Taxes - The Fund intends to comply with the requirements of the Internal Revenue Code that are applicable to regulated investment companies and to distribute all of its taxable income to its stockholders. Therefore, no provision has been made for federal income taxes.

Edgar Filing: BLUE CHIP VALUE FUND INC - Form N-CSR

The Fund had available for federal income tax purposes unused capital loss carryovers of approximately $15,485,000, which will expire in 2010.

The Fund intends to elect to defer to its fiscal year ending December 31, 2003, approximately $468,000 of losses recognized during the period November 1, 2002 to December 31, 2002, which will expire in 2011 if unutilized.

The tax character of the distributions paid was as follows:

	Six Months Ended June 30, 2003	Year Ended December 31, 2002

Distributions paid from:
Ordinary income	$ 126,304	$ 930,340
Long-term capital gain	0	0
Undesignated	2,800,553	0
Return of capital	0	13,857,137
	-----	-----
Total	$ 2,926,857	$ 14,787,477
	=====	=====

As of June 30, 2003, the components of distributable earnings on a tax basis was as follows:

Undistributed net investment income	$ 61,083
Accumulated net realized loss	(18,177,084)
Net unrealized depreciation	(1,020,713)
Undesignated distributions	(2,800,553)

Total	$ (21,937,267)

The difference between book basis and tax basis is attributable to the tax deferral of losses on wash sales.

Distributions to Stockholders - Distributions to stockholders are recorded on the ex-dividend date. Distributions are classified to conform to the tax reporting requirements of the Internal Revenue Code. If the Fund's total distributions for the year (exclusive of long-term capital gains dividends) exceed its net investment income and short-term capital gains for such year, all or a portion of such undesignated distributions may constitute a non-taxable return of capital. Management currently believes it is likely that all of the undesignated portion will be a non-taxable return of capital, however the actual determination of the source of the undesignated distributions can be made only at year-end.

The Fund distributes at least 2.5% of its net asset value quarterly to its stockholders.

Use of Estimates - The preparation of financial statements in conformity with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America requires management to make estimates and assumptions that affect the amounts reported in the financial statements and disclosures made in the accompanying notes to the financial statements. Actual results could differ from those estimates.

2. UNREALIZED APPRECIATION AND DEPRECIATION OF INVESTMENTS (TAX BASIS)

Edgar Filing: BLUE CHIP VALUE FUND INC - Form N-CSR

As of June 30, 2003:

Gross appreciation (excess of value over tax cost)	$ 10,858,668

Net unrealized appreciation	$ (1,020,713)

Cost of investments for income tax purposes	$ 138,448,714
