PRESIDENT'S LETTER

Dear Shareholder:

As the year end approaches, I would like to review some of the highlights which unfolded during 2002 and provide a glimpse on the numerous opportunities that management will be focusing on in the coming year with a potential to dramatically increase the value of shareholder equity.

The outstanding property option agreement with Barrick Gold Corporation, which was to expire on November 30, 2002, has, by mutual consent, been postponed to be discussed early in the new year. The original agreement gives Barrick the option to choose one of two properties, either Potrerillos or Rio Taguas, in the Valle del Cura region of Argentina. The request for a decision delay was to allow Barrick's technical team to review additional IMA properties which could result in the redefinition of our current relationship. Management considered the strong support received to date from Barrick and consented to the short postponement as a gesture of appreciation and continued good relations.

Our Rio Tabaconas project in Peru has been the source of great success in 2002. The initial drilling campaign has outlined numerous promising targets and demonstrated that this property has tremendous potential. However, given the substantial investment required to advance the property through the next exploration stage, the Company decided to complete further exploration after an agreement with the local community has been finalized, thus minimizing any uncertainty and undue risk. With the regional elections complete, IMA is continuing its efforts to address local cultural, developmental and environmental concerns by developing a clear and mutually beneficial relationship at the regional and community level.

IMA has been very successful in raising capital during the last year and all of its financings were completed. Also, over the last twelve months, institutions in the USA, UK, Switzerland and Asia purchased almost 20% of the Company. The funds raised have been allocated to those projects that have the best investment return potential for shareholders.

Furthermore, IMA completed its listing on the Frankfurt Stock Exchange in Germany and on the OTC Bulletin Board in the United States. The new listings have broadened IMA's retail and institutional shareholder base, which in an improving gold market, has resulted in increased liquidity of the Company's stock.

The year ahead will be exciting one. With the Company's primary focus being in southern Argentina, IMA is set to begin with an aggressive drill campaign on our 100% owned Las Bayas property, in the Patagonia region of Argentina. The Company has been reviewing property in this region since mid-1999, shortly after the first drill results were returned from the Esquel gold discovery (recently purchased by Meridian Gold Inc. for US$230million). IMA's current portfolio in Patagonia consists of nine projects totaling over 75,000 hectares. Details of the upcoming drill program will be announced shortly.

In addition, IMA continues with its multi-faceted exploration strategy in several established mining locations, giving the Company depth and allowing it to spread the risk inherent in exploration. In northwestern Argentina, IMA is set to embark on a detailed surface exploration program in 2003 on our highly prospective 100% owned Mogote property. IMA is also active in Peru, where it is reviewing a number of potential properties, including the Alto Chicama region, where Barrick has just announced the US$370 million development of its new gold discovery.

We believe that the Company's current share price understates the inherent value that is built in IMA. With a strong treasury, 19 established drill targets, over 2,000 square kilometers of property, a positive outlook for the price of gold, along with IMA's expanding shareholder base all point to an eventful and exciting year for 2003.

I would like to thank you, our shareholders and supporters, for your continued support over the past year as the Company has worked at developing its exploration opportunities. You can be assured of our commitment to further enhance shareholder value throughout 2003 and beyond.

Sincerely,

/s/ Joseph Grosso
