About Nihon Keizai Shimbun, Inc.

Established in 1876, Nihon Keizai Shimbun, Inc (Nikkei) has forged a reputation for fair and impartial journalism, both in Japan and abroad. Today, Nikkei is expanding its sphere of influence by focusing on its core business newspaper publishing while simultaneously reinforcing its capabilities to meet the growing demand for digital information. Amidst unprecedented changes in society and technology evolving at a rapid pace, Nikkei finds itself in an era characterized by a proliferation of information. In such times of change, Nikkei considers it crucial to maintain the highest principles of journalism and provide nothing but the best in fair and impartial news coverage. In addition to publishing five newspapers among them The Nihon Keizai Shimbun, the world's largest business daily Nikkei supplies comprehensive business and economic coverage through a variety of vehicles, ranging from electronic media and data services to broadcasting, publishing, and special events. By amplifying its international coverage with a particular focus on Asia, Nikkei is working to create an infrastructure capable of filing the global demand for news.

About Nikkei Business Publications, Inc.

NikkeiBP is the largest and most trusted source of business and technology news in Japan. Rather than rely on freelancers and wire services, we use 550 staff writers with extensive experience and credentials in their fields. No other publishing house employs as many professionals to bring you the news in-depth and on time.

With international offices in Beijing, Hong Kong, London, New York, Silicon Valley, Singapore and Taipei, NikkeiBP networks daily with the global business community. To be mentioned in a NikkeiBP title be it our flagship Nikkei Business magazine, our widely visited BizTech portal or one of the 200 books we publish annually means to be a significant player in the business and technology world.

As of March 1, 2003, NikkeiBP's 42 specialized periodicals and three newsletters reached a combined readership of 2.6 million. Our readership figures are audited by the Japan Audit Bureau of Circulations: this practice remains rare in the Japanese publishing industry. NikkeiBP's reputation and reach provide strong advertising opportunities. NikkeiBP ranks number one among Japan's publishing companies in gross advertising revenue. Since our periodicals are sold largely and often entirely by subscription, advertisers obtain better profiles of readers than those available from rival newsstand titles.

This advantage carries over to the Internet. With a wealth of general and specialized sites, NikkeiBP Network is one of the most popular online stops for business and technology professionals.

It takes more than publishing to be the best content provider for business professionals. That is why NikkeiBP companies also provide consulting, training, market research... in short, every service that imparts knowledge. NikkeiBP believes in the power of information, and so do our customers.

2. Reasons for Liquidation

(1) DCM Capital USA (UK) Limited

DCM Capital USA (UK) Limited was established as an intermediate holding company in the United Kingdom to hold the shares of AT&T Wireless when DoCoMo invested in AT&T Wireless. In order to reduce operational costs, DoCoMo decided to liquidate the intermediate holding company and hold AT&T Wireless shares directly.

(2) DCM Capital TWN (UK) Limited

DCM Capital TWN (UK) Limited was established as an intermediate holding company in the United Kingdom to hold the shares of KGT when DoCoMo invested in KGT. In order to reduce operational costs, DoCoMo decided to liquidate the intermediate holding company and hold KGT shares directly (shares of FarEastone Telecommunications Co., Ltd. (FET), after the planned share exchange).

(3) Taiwan DoCoMo Limited

Taiwan DoCoMo Limited was established as an intermediate holding company in Taiwan to hold the shares of KGT when DoCoMo invested in KGT due to a foreign ownership rule in Taiwan that limited foreign investors' direct ownership of telecommunications carriers in Taiwan. As the telecommunications law in Taiwan was later revised to relax the foreign ownership limitation, DoCoMo decided to liquidate the intermediate holding company and hold KGT shares directly (FET shares, after the planned share exchange).

3. Schedule

Each liquidation is expected to be completed during the fiscal year ending March 31, 2005.
