Item 5. Other Events and Regulation FD Disclosure.

On February 26, 2004, BearingPoint, Inc. ("BearingPoint" or the "Company") reported preliminary results for the quarter ended December 31, 2003. Revenue is expected to be approximately $792 million and the loss per share is expected to be approximately $0.60. The expected revenue increased 7 percent over the quarter ended September 30, 2003, and declined 2 percent compared to the quarter ended December 31, 2002. The Company's expected net loss for the quarter ended December 31, 2003 of approximately $117 million includes a previously announced lease and facilities charge of $2 million, an expected goodwill impairment charge of $120 million (Subject to completion of the Company's valuation analysis, the Company expects that the goodwill impairment charge will be between $100 million and $140 million. The Company currently estimates the amount of the charge to be $120 million.), and a tax rate of 86% due to the change in fiscal year-end and the timing of losses in certain foreign entities. Cash generated from operations for the quarter is expected to be approximately $69 million.

As was previously announced, the Company recently changed its fiscal year-end from June 30 to December 31 and is currently undergoing a transition period audit for the six months ended December 31, 2003. As a result, these preliminary results are subject to audit procedures and final reconciliations and adjustments, if any. Following completion of these procedures and final preparation of the Form 10-K, the Company expects to report its final earnings for the quarter and six-month period ended December 31, 2003, on or around April 16, 2004, in accordance with the required filing period.

The preliminary December quarter results include the following key performance items and other information.

- In addition to the quarter over quarter revenue growth, the Company also realized solid bookings for the business as a whole and especially in North America, led by the Financial Services and Public Services segments, and in the EMEA region. Cancellations and postponements of only approximately $6 million demonstrate greater stability in client spending, while the pipeline of sales opportunities continues to grow, reaching a six-month high for the Company.
- The Company expects utilization in the North America region of 67 percent, which exceeds utilization of 62 percent for the quarter ended December 31, 2002. The expected utilization rates for the quarter reflect improvements from the prior December quarter in all North America segments as well as in the EMEA and Asia Pacific operations.
- The challenging economic environment in Europe has caused the Company to lower its growth expectations for this region and to reevaluate the recorded goodwill for its EMEA business in accordance with generally accepted accounting principles. As a result of this review, the Company expects to record a goodwill impairment charge of approximately $120 million during the quarter ended December 31, 2003 (Subject to completion of the Company's valuation analysis, the Company expects that the goodwill impairment charge will be between $100 million and $140 million. The Company currently estimates the amount of the charge to be $120 million.).

Forward-Looking Statements

This Current Report on Form 8-K contains forward-looking statements within the meaning of the United States Private Securities Litigation Reform Act of 1995. These statements relate to the Company's operations that are based on the Company's current expectations, estimates and projections. Words such as may, will, could, would, should, anticipate, predict, potential, continue, expects, intends, plan, estimates, and similar expressions are used to identify these forward-looking statements. These statements are only predictions and as such are not guarantees of future performance because they involve risks, uncertainties, and assumptions that are difficult to predict. Forward-looking statements are based upon assumptions as to future events or the Company's future financial performance that may not prove to be accurate. Actual outcomes and results may differ materially from what is expressed or forecast in these forward-looking statements. As a result, these statements speak only as of the date they were made, and the Company undertakes no obligation to publicly update or revise any forward-looking statements, whether as a result of new information, future events or otherwise.

The Company's actual results may differ from the forward-looking statements for many reasons, including:

- the business decisions of the Company's clients regarding the use of the Company's services;

- the timing of projects and their termination;

- the availability of talented professionals to provide the Company's services;

- the pace of technological change;

- the strength of the Company's joint marketing relationships;

- the actions of the Company's competitors; and

- unexpected difficulties associated with the Company's recent acquisitions, group hires and other transactions involving BearingPoint GmbH and the former Andersen Business Consulting Practices.

In addition, the Company's results and forward-looking statements could be affected by general domestic and international economic and political conditions, including the current slowdown in the economy, uncertainty as to the future direction of the economy and vulnerability of the economy to domestic or international incidents, as well as market conditions in the Company's industry. For a more detailed discussion of certain of these factors, see Factors Affecting Future Financial Results that is attached as Exhibit 99.1 to the Company's Form 10-Q for the quarter ended September 30, 2003 and similar sections in the Company's filings with the Securities and Exchange Commission, which describe risks and factors that could cause results to differ materially from those projected in such forward-looking statements. The Company cautions the reader that these risk factors may not be exhaustive. The Company operates in a continually changing business environment, and new risk factors emerge from time to time. Management cannot predict such new risk factors, nor can it assess the impact, if any, of such new risk factors on the Company's business or the extent to which any factor, or combination of factors, may cause actual results to differ materially from those implied by any forward-looking statements.

Edgar Filing: BEARINGPOINT INC - Form 8-K
