NOTICE TO THE MARKET

TIM Participações SA ("Company") (BM & FBOVESPA: TIMP3; NYSE: TSU), informs the market, its shareholders, and its more than 70 million users on the following:

We make reference to the Notice to the Market Day August 7, 2012, where we present the Company's positioning strongly denying allegations that dropped calls were being motivated by deliberate action of the Company and the Notice to the Market Day November 12, 2012 where due the negative impact on our image Company hired two independent institutions, with proven reputation and expertise, Ericsson and PricewaterhouseCoopers, who at the time concluded and ratified the statement made by the Company in the previous statement, denying any illegal practice or any maneuver that smote transparent in the relationship with its customers.

In this regard, the Anatel issued a final opinion showing the absence of any hint of purposeful drop call with customer of the TIM Infinity Plan, knocking the allegations previously reported and finally confirming the facts that the company has always maintained and demonstrated with transparency and collaboration with the Agency.

Regarding the fine imposed for reasons of not achieving the goal of quality associated with the drop call rate of March 8, 2012, TIM clarifies that will analyze the process to check the grounds and take appropriate action, as with all penalties inherent in the telecommunications industry.

It is worth noting the latest quarterly report from Anatel, released in early February on the quarter from August to October 2012, the Company presented results within the target in most indicators, with one of the best rates in dropped calls, less than the index of 2%.

TIM reaffirms its commitment to improving services and the transparency of its business. In the period ending in 2015, the Company will invest R$ 10.7 billion in Brazil, with 90% of this amount allocated for improvement and expansion of its coverage. All this work can be followed by customers in the website "Portas Abertas" (www.tim.com.br/portasabertas), a Company's inedited initiative in the telecommunications market that shows to the consumers in a - didactically and transparent way - the evolution of the enterprise network and the improvement actions undertaken.
