NU and NSTAR apply for approval of merger creating substantial benefits for Connecticut

HARTFORD, Connecticut, January 19, 2012 Northeast Utilities (NYSE: NU) and NSTAR (NYSE: NST) today submitted an application for approval of their merger to Connecticut's Public Utilities Regulatory Authority (PURA), as directed in the Authority's recent reversal of its prior decision on jurisdiction.

The companies state in today's filing demonstrates that the transaction is clearly in the public interest and should be approved. Specifically, the filing provides that NU will continue to possess the financial, technological and managerial suitability to control its operating companies in the state (Connecticut Light & Power and Yankee Gas Services Company). The merger will augment CL&P and Yankee's existing capabilities and resources and will have no negative impact on their ability to provide safe, adequate and reliable service to their customers or on PURA's ability to regulate them.

Although we disagree with PURA's reversal of its prior rulings on jurisdiction, we are confident the Authority will see the benefits that will come to Connecticut through the combination of our businesses," said Gregory B. Butler, NU's senior vice president and general counsel. "We appreciate the Authority's mindfulness of the milestones needed for the successful completion of the merger and its dedication of resources to complete the review within that time schedule.

The merger will result in one of the nation's largest utilities located in New England, a financially solid company that will have access to greater resources for storm restoration, infrastructure improvements and continued safe and reliable electric and gas service to CL&P and Yankee customers. NU's improved purchasing power and economies of scale are expected to result in net savings of as much as $784 million throughout the combined company over the first 10 years.

The merger also awaits regulatory approval from the Massachusetts Department of Public Utilities, which has completed its hearings. The merger has been approved by the shareholders of both companies, and has met all other federal and state regulatory conditions for the closing of the transaction.
