Memo

TO: Option Holders
FROM: Keith A. Tucker
SUBJECT: Tender for Options

Waddell & Reed is planning some significant changes to equity compensation for employees. As a way to introduce the concept to the public, we will be including the following language in our third quarter earnings press release. Please do not discuss the contents of this memo with anyone until the press release has gone over the wire on Thursday.

"In recognition of the accounting changes that are emerging for long-term incentive compensation, Waddell & Reed has decided to significantly reduce its reliance on stock options in a manner designed to promote financial statement clarity and employee retention while reducing share dilution. The changes will be implemented in two steps:

1. The regular annual stock option grant for year 2002 will be materially reduced in favor of a restricted stock grant; and
2. During the first quarter of 2003, employees will be given the choice to retain a substantial number of significantly out-of-the-money stock options or to tender them for restricted stock as determined by the Compensation Committee of the Board based on recognized valuation techniques used to expense stock options.

The annual grants of restricted stock will be expensed over their vesting period. The option tender will result in immediate expense recognition in the first quarter of 2003 for shares of restricted stock issued as part of the tender.

It is anticipated that together these steps will meaningfully reduce options outstanding, result in increased non-cash compensation charges in years subsequent to 2002 and promote employee retention. It has been determined that Keith A.

Tucker, Chairman and Chief Executive Officer, will not be eligible to participate in the 2003 option tender."

More details will be provided as the specifics of the plan are determined by the Compensation Committee of the Board and we get closer to an offer period potentially in early February.
